UNREQUITED FAREWELLS.

It is a singular condition in the democratic politics of the country when two of the chief democratic journals give their retiring president such unceremonious kicks as those dealt by the New York Sun and the New York World. It will be remembered that a few days ago the Baltimore Sun wanted to do something for Mr. Cleveland in his hours of loneliness caused by his political downfall, and sent one of its trusted representatives to Washington to give the fallen democratic leader the benefit of an interview. It will be borne in mind that very few democratic papers have at any time shown any anxious desire to strengthen Mr. Cleveland's hands on the eve of his retirement. So the Baltimore Sun assumed the task, and speaking for himself, Mr. Cleveland said his administration had been a strong one, and then caused this to be written and printed:

"In view of the jobbery and scheming that permeated every department of the public service under former regimes, and which seemed to have become a permanent feature of official life in Washington, no more honorable epitaph could be applied to the administration no drawing to a close than the emphatic declaration of the president to the writer: 'We have nothing to hide.'"

In answer to this, the New York Sun goes on to show that the democratic promises to anathematize republicans had not been kept, that the republican books were found clean, and that practically, the democratic administration had given the republican administration a splendid certificate of character. By the breaking of this promise, the Sun adds that the whole policy of the democratic administration has been to praise and magnify the republican administration. Then the Sun asks: "What, indeed, has been the chief business and the prevailing characteristic of Mr. Cleveland's term of office? It has been to justify the republican administration which preceded him. It has been to show that the great democratic revolt of 1871 and 1876 was all a mistake and a delusion."

The World gives Mr. Cleveland an unkind farewell in these words: "The World has heretofore shown what the 'condition' was which prevented democratic victory. It was created by Mr. Cleveland's candidacy and the incredible antagonism to him of the few thousand democrats in this state whose bolting elected Harrison. New York remained democratic but refused to endorse the Cleveland administration."

Another kind of a farewell which the democrats on given their fallen chief is this: One democratic senator wants daily executive session to confirm Mr. Cleveland's nominations. Even the democratic senators look upon this as a joke. It is said that "four-fifths of them have not the slightest interest in seeing Mr. Cleveland's appointments confirmed. Where any of them have felt a personal interest in appointment they have generally managed to get it confirmed by explaining the situation to republicans. But in the majority of cases they have been indifferent and have declined to exert themselves to help the president out. In some instances the opposition of democratic senators has actually prevented confirmation. It was the purpose of the judiciary committee to recommend the confirmation of Solomon Olney, but Senators Voorhees and Turpie served notice that they would oppose it, and the matter was dropped. It is doubtful if an outgoing president ever had as few friends among the senators as Mr. Cleveland, and this lack of friends is the main cause why he can't get some of his pet nominations confirmed."

These "tariff reformers" have been in session in Chicago some two or three days. They didn't talk tariff reform at all. They talked free trade. Free trade is what these so-called tariff reformers demand. They are all Cobdenites.

Warner Miller wants the navy. Warner Miller should have what ever he wants. He is one of the best representatives of conscience, ability, political integrity, and progressive manhood, to be found in New York.

There have been 1402 bills introduced in the legislature, a greater number than ever before known. It is not likely that more than one-third of the number will pass. One-third is certainly three-times more than should pass.

HAS HIPPOLYTE BEEN SLAIN?
Rumor of the Haytian General's Assassination.
Boston, Mass., Feb. 22.—The latest rumor from Hayti is furnished by the second officer of the steamer Delta, from Port de Paix.

He says there is little or no communication between the coast states, but that information was received on the 12th of February from a native mail carrier of a serious conflict between the northern and southern armies three days before, one mile below St. Marc. It was said that the army under Hippolyte had been completely routed and 200 or 300 killed. The mail carrier claimed that the northern army had first blockaded the port of St. Marc, after which Legitime's army moved toward the interior, and on the second day's march encountered a detachment of Hippolyte's forces, with the above result.

The second officer also states that Rumor has gained considerable credence at Port de Paix that Hippolyte has been killed by a northern soldier, who, it is said, received $2,000 for the deed.

ADMITTS A CONSPIRACY.

THE TIMES' PRINCIPAL WITNESS BACKS DOWN.

A Virtual Admission that the Alleged Parnell Letters Are Forgeries—Opening of Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—In the Parnell commission to-day Richard Pigott took the witness-stand. The court-room and adjacent corridors were filled with people, and a large crowd gathered in the streets in front of the law courts. Intense interest was manifested.

Pigott being sworn said he met Murphy casually in Paris. Murphy introduced himself as formerly a compositor in Pigott's office. After several interviews Murphy agreed to find out where the Parnell letters were. He ultimately told Pigott of a black bag containing the first batch of letters and said he would have it for £500. Pigott returned to Dublin to obtain instructions and went back to Paris with the money. In the meantime he declared that he had obtained the letters. This difficulty was finally overcome and the letters were delivered to Pigott, he swearing before the tribunal of five never to reveal the circumstances under which he had obtained them or the names of the persons from whom he had received them, and never to appear as a witness with reference to them. The letters were brought to Dublin and duly handed over to Houston. The witness denied in the most solemn and emphatic manner that he forged the letters.

Pigott, continuing, said he bought a second batch of letters from Tom Brown, and secured them after going through the ceremony of taking the oath of secrecy before the tribunal of five. A third batch of letters was bought of a man whose name was unknown to the witness. The oath was taken as before, and the price agreed upon paid in each case. He declared he never released Houston from the obligation of secrecy. Pigott acknowledged that he was not a witness, which Mr. Lewis, the distinguished counsel, took down in writing at the time, and was now produced in court. On this statement the witness declared disbelief in the genuineness of the Parnell letters.

These revelations produced an extraordinary sensation in court, and there was great excitement outside when the news reached the street. Mr. Pigott was cross-examined by Sir Charles Russell. The witness admitted he wrote the letter to Archbishop Walsh under a seal of confession. Following is the letter in question, which was produced in court and read by the witness. It was written three days before the publication of the first article on "Parnellism and Crime" in the Times, and is dated March 4, 1887.

"YOUR GRACE: I am aware of the details of the proceedings the object of which is to destroy the Parnell party in Parliament. I can not enter more into particular details, but I am sure that your grace will suggest that your grace communicate the substance of my statement to the parties concerned. I am unable to apply to the parties direct. I fear that I am running the risk of your displeasure, but unless your suggestion is met the proceedings will succeed in their object. RICHARD PIGOTT."

"I need hardly add that if I dreamt that the parties were guilty of the crime of which I am speaking, I should not press your grace to shield them. The evidence against them is in appearance convincing and probably sufficient to secure conviction by an English jury."

PARLIAMENT OPENED.
Gist of the Queen's Speech as Read from the Throne.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Parliament reassembled to-day. The royal speech reopening the session was read by the commission. It is in substance as follows:

"Since the last session of Parliament nothing has occurred to affect the cordial relations with all foreign powers. The operations of the British forces in Egypt and Tibet have been brought to a favorable conclusion. I have consented to enter into a conference with Germany and United States at Berlin on Samoan affairs."

"This is a continuance of the conference recently held in Washington. The increase of estimates for national defense is rendered necessary by the situation of the European powers. Bills will be introduced making local government complete in England and preparing for the same in Scotland. Measures will be taken to develop the resources of Ireland and amending the procedure with regard to the 3 per cent. A measure is also necessary for restoring gold coinage to a satisfactory condition. Bills were introduced concerning the universities of Scotland, with reference to the liability of employers for accident to their workmen, establishing a department of agriculture, lessening the expense of the transfer of land, and remedying abuses attaching to joint stock companies, limited."

In conclusion the Queen invoked the blessing of the Almighty upon the labors of Parliament.

MELINE'S CABINET.
All the Portfolios Given Out with the Exception of Two.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The morning papers announce the following as the personnel of the new cabinet: Meline, premier; De Freycinet, war; Barbery, marine; Constans, interior; Rouvier, finance; Sarrien, justice; Loubet, public works; Daubigny, commerce.

The ministers of foreign affairs and of education have not yet been appointed, but the portfolios of these departments will doubtless be announced to-day.

O'Brien Taken to Prison.
DUBLIN, Feb. 22.—Mr. William O'Brien, who was sentenced at Tralee on Tuesday last to six months' imprisonment for violating the Crimes act, was to-day conveyed by a strong guard to the Galway jail, where he will undergo his sentence. An excited crowd of people gathered at Tralee to witness his departure.

Lyons, Iowa.—Patrick Noonan fell down stairs and received injuries from which he died.

KENNA RE-ELECTED.

West Virginia Chooses Him for United States Senator.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 22.—There were two ballots taken by the joint Legislature of the State of West Virginia to-day, and on the second ballot Dorr and Kenna were elected.

By a strictly party vote. His was great applause when Mr. Kenna was declared elected. This closes one of the longest contests that ever took place in the history of the Legislatures of this country.

Michigan Republican Convention.
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 22.—The Republican State convention was held here Thursday afternoon. Judge C. B. Grant of the Upper Peninsula was nominated for supreme judge on the first ballot. Regents Cocker and Draper were renominated by acclamation. The resolutions adopted briefly set forth the policy of the party, congratulated upon the victory achieved by the Republican party at the recent election, and greetings to President-elect Harrison, reaffirming the principles adopted by the Republican party in State and national conventions, and pledge fidelity to such principles.

The Fire Record.
NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 22.—Fire last night and early this morning destroyed two dry-goods stores, worth $3,000, and about $15,000 worth of lumber belonging to the lumber mills of Tunis & Serrill, in Norfolk county. The mills were not injured. Insurance $25,000 on the property destroyed.

VESPER AT TEHERAN.

The Persian Ceremony of Horn-Blowing

One of the most impressive things in the life of Teheran is the ceremony of horn-blowing at sunset. It is a very ancient custom and evidently a relic of the barbaric splendor of ancient Iran, when Persia was among the foremost nations of the earth and her mailed warriors, swarming like locusts, were wont to dominate the East. Every evening an hour before sunset a company of musicians, a pair to the balah-khama (balcony), our word is taken from the Persian over the gates to the front and rear of the royal palace, and proceed to their place in the courtyard. The trumpets consist of fifteen ancient Persian trumpets and noisy laboring of kettle and snare drums. These musicians are arrayed in fantastic scarlet and gold uniforms. The trumpets consist of long tubes of brass, 5 or 6 feet long, and from long practice and force of lungs the tooters fill the whole city with a fierce, hoarse blast. The sound is a very extreme. No attempt is made at time or harmony, but each trumpeter endeavors to out-do his fellows in volume of noise. As sunset approaches a company of modern trumpeters appear in the artillery square, to parade the same place where the Young Turk revolutionaries tried to march with their sword in Tazlaa week, and likewise proceed to toot. The sound of the trumpets is a very extreme. No attempt is made at time or harmony, but each trumpeter endeavors to out-do his fellows in volume of noise. As sunset approaches a company of modern trumpeters appear in the artillery square, to parade the same place where the Young Turk revolutionaries tried to march with their sword in Tazlaa week, and likewise proceed to toot.

A Cheap Lesson.
"That piece of paper isn't worth shucks, is it?" queried a stranger as he handed a check in to the cashier of a Detroit bank the other day.

"No, sir," was the reply after a brief glance.

"It is signed John Smith."

"I see it is."

"He's a fraud!"

"Think so? Where did you get the check?"

"At the depot. Lent a party $20 to get on a train with, and he gave me this check of $50 as security."

"I know it. I knew it half an hour ago. When I started to come to town my brother and said 'I'll let some one make a fool of me.'"

"And you here."

"I have. Turned out just as he said. Say, wasn't that confidence operator rather fresh?"

"How?"

"See here. Here's a wallet with $3,800 in it, and the fool only asked me for $20! Won't he kick himself if he ever finds out how cheap he let me off?"

He Hesitated No Longer.
They had been gazing abstractedly into the glow of the coals for nearly two hours. She had been waiting for two years for him to get to his feet and engage, as he had, in screwing up his courage. At last she lifted her tired head and asked:

"George, do you know what Prof. Tisserand of the Paris observatory says?"

"No, what does he say?" inquired George, eagerly.

"He reports that Neptune has a satellite which is moving in direct contradiction to the revolution of all other planets and that before many ages it will drive our whole system after it into space."

Divorces in England.
It is customary to throw stones at the United States for the numerous divorces which take place among its people, but statistics show that the percentage of divorces in England is growing with alarming rapidity. Since the divorce act was adopted by Parliament, thirty years ago, there have been no fewer than 13,023 suits brought under it; and 7,295—more than half—the court has put asunder those whom the church had joined together. The showing is worse still when the three decades of divorces are compared with each other. In the first, 1838 to 1867, there were 2,188 applications for divorces. In the second, 1868 to 1877, there were 3,272, an increase of about 50 per cent. In the third, 1878 to 1887, there were 4,761, an increase of about 75 per cent. In the next decade the increase will be, say the lawyers, fully 100 per cent.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

A DAY'S DOINGS IN CONGRESSIONAL HALLS.

The Postoffice Appropriation Bill Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Up to date all of fifteen of the certificates of membership of the next House has been received by Gen. Clark, clerk of the House.

Among those lacking are the certificates of two representatives from West Virginia and one from Tennessee. Assuming that Evans (Rep.) will receive the certificate from the House, the House will have 164 and the Democrats 159 members at the organization of the next House, not counting the West Virginia members. Should these two seats go to the Democrats, the House will have a majority of three, but the admission of the Dakotas, Washington, and Montana, will increase this majority.

Accommodations for Inaugural Visitors. WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The inaugural committee announces that its resources are ample to enable it to provide with pleasant and comfortable lodging, with board, in the most desirable parts of the city all who may wish to attend the inaugural ceremonies. The prices range from $3 to $4 a day. While the committee has already provided for between 30,000 and 40,000 people, there is no lack of really desirable places at and reasonable rates.

Minor Gospel. The Sioux reservation bill as completed by the Senate committee on Indian affairs strikes from the bill as it passed the House what is known as the Payson town-site amendment.

The Senate committee on Indian affairs has reported a bill appropriating $1,812,942 to pay in full the Seminole claims of Indians for all their right to certain lands in Indian Territory.

Representative O'Donnell (Mich.) has presented in the House an enormous petition against the Sunday-rest bill, which bears the signatures of 230,000 seventh-day Adventists in all parts of the country. Two immure petitions in favor of the bill were presented in the Senate by Mr. Stockbridge.

DEVOURED BY WOLVES. Two Children Torn to Pieces by the Beasts in Northern Minnesota.

WHITE EARTH, Minn., Feb. 22.—News from a credible source reached here that on the 19th inst. two white children returning to their homes late in the afternoon from school were attacked and devoured by ravenous timber wolves, a few scattered bones and shreds of clothing alone remaining as horrible testimony of the children's fate. The Harbors Must Hang. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 22.—After a trial almost unparalleled in this State for its length and for the skill with which it was conducted both by the prosecution and the defense, and after numerous appeals have been heard and decided and a final appeal to the Governor of the State, the flat went forth today that Tim and Peter Barrett, the two young men who shot and killed the street car driver, Tollefson, in Minneapolis about a year ago, must hang for their crime. Sheriff James H. Ego of Minneapolis was officially notified this afternoon that the State had decided to execute the two men by hanging on the gallows at the State prison at Mankato, Minn., on the 22nd inst. between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., and the place of execution the Hennepin county jail in Minneapolis.

Catharin Cure. A clergyman of 60 years of suffering from loathsome disease Catharin and finally trying every known remedy at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York city, will receive the recipe free of charge.

Intestines Are Dangerous Faut. In the kidneys, when inactive they speedily fall into disrepair. Those obstinate and fatal maladies, Bright's disease and diabetes, are the result of a certain neglect upon the function of the organs affected. Catharin of the bladder, enuresis, gravel and stranguary are also to be apprehended from a partial paralysis of the bladder which weakens and stagnates the urine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a fine tonic and promoter of activity for the renal organs, and which can be relied upon to afford them the requisite stimulus without exciting them to undue activity. It is free from the unmediated alcoholic content of commerce. A further beneficial effect of the Bitters, by renewing activity of the kidneys, is to enable them to drain from the blood the poisonous elements which, impurities productive of rheumatism and dropsy. Nervousness, fever and ague, constipation and dyspepsia are conquered by the Bitters.

A Bad Story. The child coughed. The mother ran. No remedy was near. Before morning the poor little sufferer died. Moral: Always keep Dr. Acker's Cough Remedy at hand. Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

Now Mr. Holt has brought suit against McCormack for pay for preaching sermons at the funeral of the latter's two sons in 1887.
